QUESTION XIV. What Preachers have died during the past year?

Rev. Henry Bass departed this life, May 13th, 1860. On Sabbath morning, just as the sun was rising, he was permitted to enter the temple above at the time he had been accustomed to arrange his thoughts and his heart for service in the temple below. He was born in Berlin, Connecticut, December 9th, 1786, the son of Daniel Bass, one of the daring patriots that threw the tea overboard. About the age of twenty-one, he came to Fayetteville, N. C., with the avowed object of bettering his temporal condition; it was here he became acquainted with the Methodists, and joined the church on probation, in 1807. Soon after, being powerfully moved to preach the gospel, and conferring not with flesh and blood, he offered himself to the South Carolina Conference, and was admitted in the Town of Camden, December, 1811. His classmates have nearly all passed away, the only survivor in this Conference being the Rev. Nicholas Talley. Brother Bass was ordained Deacon by Bishop Asbury, in Fayetteville, Jan. 16th, 1814, and an Elder, by Bishop McKendree, in Charleston, Dec. 28th, 1815. He died in the forty-ninth year of his ministry, thirty-seven years having been spent in an effective relation to the Conference, and a few months more than eleven years in the relation of a superannuated preacher. Eighteen years he filled the office of Presiding Elder, and nineteen years were spent on circuits and stations.

He was always laborious, attentive and useful, never consulting his own ease or convenience. He abounded in good works, willing to spend and be spent for Christ. The disease of which he died (cancer) made its appearance in 1856, and gradually spread until his whole system became vitiated. For nearly six months before his death, he was confined to his bed almost entirely, and most of the time under the influence of anodynes; but, whenever awake, the subject of religion was first, and in his religious experience there was no confusion. He would often say, "How good the Lord is;" "I trust in God above all." In almost every instance when prayer was offered at his bedside, he seemed carried with the service, and his expressions of faith and holy joy presented a true spectacle of moral sublimity. Thus lived and died a guileless Christian minister. He is doubtless with God, and his works do follow him.

HUGH E. OGBURN was received into the South Carolina Conference on trial in 1838, and died in the District of Williamsburg, on the 19th January, 1860, in the forty-third year of his Sudden and frequent attacks of illness having disqualified him for continued and active service in the regular work, at his death he held the relation of a superannuated preacher. Before, and during this time, he labored with zeal and acceptability in winning souls to Christ. A good preacher, sound in doctrine, preaching often with the unction from on high. A short time before his death, he remarked that three things had been matters of special prayer: that he might die easily, die in his senses, and die happy. And now his prayer was answered. Bidding his wife and children meet him in heaven, he exhorted them to put their trust in God. To one of the preachers of the circuit he remarked, "Religion is good to live with; but it is good now." Thus, in holy triumph, our brother has passed away to the rest that remaineth for the people of God.

CHARLES F. CAMPBELL was born in Marion District, South

Carolina, and was admitted on trial in this Conference at the last session, and was appointed to Blackville Circuit. He entered upon the duties of a travelling preacher with promptness, and was faithful according to his strength. He was amiable in his disposition, and was much loved by the people. But, having taken a severe cold, which resulted in serious indisposition, the Quarterly Conference, at the close of six months, gave him permission to go home; and, after lingering a few weeks in the midst of the kindness and affection of his family, he gently sunk into the arms of death. It is reported by those who were with him, that his faith stood firm in the final hour, and that he passed away sustained by the triumphant hope of a happy immortality.

REDDICK PIERCE was born in Halifax County, North Carolina, September 26, 1782. His father brought his family to South Carolina, and settled on Tinker Creek, in Barnwell District. Here his son was awakened to a sense of his danger, under the ministry of Rev. James Jenkins. In 1802, he was received into the church by Rev. Thomas Darley. He became a travelling preacher in 1805, and was appointed to the Little River Circuit, in the State of Georgia. He continued an effective travelling preacher, until 1812, at which time he He subsequently re-entered the Conference, and remained effective several years. His increasing deafness made it necessary for him to superannuate. In this relation to the Conference, he remained until death. Although he had no pastoral charge, his zeal for God was so intense he labored incessantly, and with marked ability; indeed, his mental force, his grasp of thought and logical skill, were surpassed by few, and his matured Christian experience imparted to his religious life commendable uniformity. Even after he became so deaf as to entirely prevent his hearing the preacher's voice, he would go to church regularly. When asked why he did so, replied, "I go to fill my place, as every good man ought." A few months prior to his death, he declined rapidly. His physicians could not detect the characteristics of any particular disease; but the energies of life yielded under the pressure of many years, until death came as a welcome messenger, and called him home. He died in peace, at the house of Jacob Stroman, Esq., his long tried and fast friend, July 24th, 1860. He sleeps in Jesus, and his reward is on high.

QUESTION XV. Are all the Preachers blameless in their life and official administration?

The life and administration of each one was carefully inquired into, and approved by the Conference.

QUESTION XVI. What is the number of Preachers and Members in the several Circuits, Stations and Missions, of the Conference?

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS OF THE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The reports from the various missions furnish the following statistics: there are thirty-eight missions within the bounds of our Conference; of these, twelve are to the whites in destitute parts of the country, and twenty-six to the colored people. In these missions there are one thousand four hundred and eighty-three whites in full connection, and three hundred and three on probation; colored in full connection, nine thousand three hundred and ninety-two; on probation, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-eight; children under catechetical instruction, six thousand one hundred and seventy-eight. To supply this work, forty-three zealous and faithful men have been detailed from the regular pastoral work. We feel thankful to God that the lives of our brethren have been spared in these fields of exposure, and that their labors have been attended with encouraging success.

The missionary work among the negroes has long engaged the prayerful attention and generous support of this society. The first to begin anything like systematic effort for the improvement of the slaves in the South, ours shall be the last Conference to desert the work. Having passed through the period when our motives were suspected and our operations jealously scrutinized, no one can think of retiring now, when we are everywhere hailed with welcome by master and slave. The work is no longer an experiment. The success has become matter of history. The fruit is abundant—and our rejoicing is this: "the poor have the gospel preached unto them." In this enterprise we have not sought the commendations of the irreligious world; we have not waited the approval of conceited philanthropists; nor have we courted a place in the heralded glories of a spreading Church; but our hearts have swelled with silent joy, as we have watched the signals of divine approval in the religious improvement of the negro. Our eyes though often dimmed with tears, have been fixed on the coming harvest, "when they who go forth weeping shall doubtless come again rejoicing, bringing their sheaves with them."

The mad crusade of Northern fanaticism shall not abate our interest in these descendants of Ham, which Providence has committed to our care. Politicians may curse our institutions, and psuedo-philanthropists howl over our sins; we regard not the maledictions of the one, nor the drivelling pity of the other. Ours shall still be the pleasing task of breaking the bread of life to the eager hands of the negro; we shall still weep with him in his penitential grief, and cheerfully join in his hearty songs of praise; and in the dying hour, when the glory of the heavenly world begins to dawn upon him, ours be the pleasure to witness the light of immortality kindling upon his dusky brow, and ours the privilege to see how God can make the negro-cabin the gate of heaven.

We cannot close this part of our report without expressing the belief, that a brighter day is about to open upon our domestic missions. All who have labored in these fields, as well as those who have had any pastoral charge of our colored people, know full well the embarrassments which have been thrown in the way of evangelizing this class, by the fanatical agitations of Northern politicians. Exposed to the wicked intermeddling of abolitionists, we have been compelled to restrict the liberties of the colored people, and even those privileges which have been given, had to be so guarded and watched, as to allow but an imperfect development of redeeming agency. The potency of the Gospel has been but partially exerted for the salvation of the subject race. Nor has this been a fault of our home-government, nor yet is it an inherent difficulty of slavery, but it has been the necessary protection against an agitation which has taken up passions as malign as those which excited the inquisition, and is led by a blindness as deluded as that which guided the crusades. The great, persistent effort has been to array the two classes of our social organization against each other. The Methodist Church was made the pioneer in this work. But the effort so to prostitute it, rent it asunder in 1844, other denominations were sought as the instruments of this fiendish task, but the spirit of Southern Christianity was too pure to be sold to abolition rule. Failing with the Churches, the Federal Government has been seized upon as the only remaining power to destroy the negro and the South.

While we leave to the leaders of secession to state the civil reasons which sustain their movement, we believe that the full development of Christianity among the negroes of the South, demands an immediate and final separation from a government which, so far from quieting, has been the willing agent of excitements and agitations that have proved powerful obstacles in "the spread of Scriptural holiness through the land." The secession of South Carolina will settle forever the question of slavery. The vague dreams of abolition-redemption will soon fade away from the mind of the slave, and leave him happy and contented. Satisfied with the condition in which God has placed him, he will the more certainly and rapidly advance in religious enlightenment and Christian morality. Then, too, the sense of entire security, which will be felt by the master, will awaken a kinder and more considerate regard for the slave. A two-fold blessing will follow—the negro will become more obedient and loyal, the master more trusting and affec-This reciprocal interest cannot fail to work out a state of social confidence and order, in which the white man will be the more willing dispenser of the word of life, and the black man the more cheerful and happy recipient. For these and other reasons, we rejoice in what we believe to be the dawn of the brightest day in the annals of our mission-history. And now, while we can hear the great gathering of this glorious Exodus that tells us the night of terror and suspense is well-nigh spent, we grasp with pleasure the pilgrim's staff, and stand ready to follow wherever Israel's God shall guide us.

The M. E. Church, South, has one mission in China; two hundred and forty-six missions in destitute portions of our country to the whites—missions to the colored people, two hundred and ten; to the Germans, twenty; in all, four hundred and seventy-seven—with an effective force of near five hundred men.

The M. E. Church, North, has missions in Africa, in China, in South America, in Germany, in Sweden, in Norway, in Denmark, in Bulgaria, and in India. Their force, domestic and foreign, amounts to six hundred.

English Methodism, besides an effective home department, has six hundred ministers in foreign fields, and employs one thousand others, who assist in spreading the Scriptures.

Other smaller branches of Methodism engage about four hundred men in this work; so that the entire missionary force of all the denominations who agree in the Methodist faith and practice, may be set down at two thousand. In the communion of these denominations, there are fifty thousand ministers, three millions of members, and twelve millions of hearers.

These are the results of our Church labors in the past century. For, if the average time at which these denominations began, shall be struck, we have one hundred years as the age of Methodism. During this period, we have had to encounter the strongest opposition and the bitterest prejudices. All the difficulties and hardships of missionary work have been endured, and the contribution of three millions of members to the Church of Christ, may be properly considered as the result of Methodist missions in the last century.

These denominations now constitute the largest body of Protestants in the world. In addition to numbers, wealth and educational advantages abound. Though the Wesleyan revival began among the poor, ours is now officially reported to be the wealthiest denomination in the United States. The members of our Church are at work in every department of enterprise; in agriculture and commerce, in manufactories and navigation, on the surface of the earth and in the rich mines of the interior, by land and by sea, in city and in the gorges of the mountains, every where and in every thing that promises a rich return, they now become as a body, the long-fabled, but real and powerful Briarius of the present generation. All the means necessary to the most efficient organization of a foreign missionary department are in our hands,—numbers, wealth, and intelligence.

In addition to this, the itinerancy has trained a class of ministers peculiarly adapted to the hardships and labors of the foreign field. These who are accustomed to the malaria of the rice-fields, would not tremble before the fevers of Africa; these who have never turned their backs to the dangers of the Western wilds, would know no fear among the jungles of India; these who are cheerful and happy on the out-posts of civilization, would ask no homes of luxury in Syria or Japan. Full of earnest zeal, accustomed to self-sacrifice, and undaunted by dangers, it would be "victory organized" with these soldiers in the field.

This exhibit of our strength is not made to excite denominational pride or sectarian vanity, but to enable us fully to estimate the obligations imposed by the possession of so many talents. Of those "to whom much is given, will much be required." The Church has surely passed its minority. It cannot, it must not be content with home evangelization. How much, then, is required of the Church for missions abroad? The answer is to be found only in the amount of our ability. We are "accepted according to that we have." This is the New Testament rate of obligation; not the Jewish tenth, but the Christian's ability to give. Not only is this clearly laid down as the rule of our faith, but the continuance of our present blessings is suspended upon compliance to the rule, "from him that hath not shall be taken even that which he hath." Present advantages, great as they are, cannot long be ours without improvement. We have tarried long enough at home. A new spirit must be kindled, new enterprises must awaken our zeal, and new liberality will then sustain the work.

No man can doubt the call of God to this work, who will look at the opening fields. Central and South America, our continental neighbors, ought to be made fraternal co-workers in the spread of the gospel. Beyond the Pacific, China's millions Japan cannot long resist the friendly intercourse so happily begun, and every island of the empire will soon stretch its hands for the word of life. Africa has long been a scene of heroic suffering, and still the half is not done that might be effected for the redemption of its darkened children. All hearts are now rejoicing at the brightening prospects of evangelical truth among the nations of Europe. Here the corn evangelical truth among the nations of Europe. is breast-high, and waving to the reapers. The Ottoman Empire, long tottering to its fall, must soon tremble into ruins, and leave the crescent an unfeared symbol of power in Asia. The Jews, who for ages have been considered unapproachable, give signs, in many places, that judicial blindness is yielding before the gospel day. The world is open to us. Turn where we will, and we shall see that "the harvest is great," and the master is calling for laborers. To stand still at this time, will be to hesitate when the Lord is saying, "go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." To stand still, will be to allow our prosperity to consume us, and our luxuries to destroy us. To stand still, will be to allow seven hundred millions of our race to perish. And this, too, when we are best prepared for action; this, too, when the promise assures us that the "kingdom of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and his Christ;" this, too, when we are supported by fifty millions of the followers of Christ; when the kingdoms of Christendom rank among the first nations of the earth, and its cities and towns are the richest in the world. Shall it be so? Duty to God, duty to ourselves, and duty to perishing thousands, says no. And may the prayers, and zeal, and liberality of the Church, say no.

In conclusion, we present the following resolutions for your consideration:

Resolved, 1st. That our home and domestic missions shall still command our tenderest, cheerful support.

Resolved, 2d. That the time has come when, as a Church, we must not be content with the work of home-evangelization, but we must move, with active effort and vigorous zeal, all the resources at our command, for the conversion of the world.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS

OF THE

South Carolina Confenence Sunday School Society.

The Board of Managers of the Sunday School Society of the South Carolina Conference beg leave to submit their second Annual Report:

It is a source of intense gratification to the members of this Board, as it must be to every philanthropic and Christian heart, that a general and decided interest has been awakened, not only within the limits of our immediate Conference district, but of the entire Southern Methodist Church, upon the importance and necessity of early religious instruction among the young. This, we think, is mainly attributable, under the Divine blessing, to the increased interest manifested by those who are earnestly and prayerfully laboring in the Master's vineyard.

It is not now left entirely to the minister, the faithful man of God, who ought not to be expected to do all of this momentous work, in addition to the heavy responsibility which, as a preacher of the word, is required of him. Pious and faithful men and women have in this work come up "to the help of the Lord against the mighty." The interest manifested has been awakened and largely increased by the benign influence exerted in the two annual Conventions, which met for the specific purpose of aiding in the cause of Sunday Schools within the borders of the South Carolina Conference. The first of these, held in the city of Columbia in May, 1859, was the inauguration of a new and splendid era in our Sunday School history. Its proceedings have been made matters of permanent record, and still serve to refresh and gladden the heart as "memory brings the light of other days." The second convocation, held in the town of Spartanburg, in May, of the present year, was not the less successful in its influence and effect upon all who enjoyed the pleasure of being present on that highly interesting and delightful occasion. If possible, it was even an improvement on the first; and, certainly, the most practical and irrefutable argument for their repetition. It is to be sincerely regretted, that the proceedings of that Convention have not been preserved in a more permanent and useful form. Let us hope that circumstances may transpire by which they may yet be printed and circulated among our people, and preserved among the cherished records of the Church. In reviewing the past two years immediately connected with the history of our present organization, we have much to encourage our hope and strengthen our faith in this peculiar and privileged labor of love. What faithful man or woman of God has not felt it a > "Delightful task young souls to win, And turn the rising race From the deceitful paths of sin To seek their Saviour's face."

Can there be a more important work than the careful and proper training of the young heart for usefulness here, and heaven hereafter?

It constituted an important office in the ministry of the Master, and when he commanded the repentant Peter to Feed his Lambs, he enunciated as positive an injunction to his disciples, as when he said, Go preach my Word. Is it a task, brother, to work for Jesus? Is not every precious lamb of the flock worth saving-worth a jewelled crown in heaven?

But the work must not all be left for the minister and teacher to do. Home influence must bear a co-operative and important part in this great work, and if Methodist fathers and mothers desire to have their children grow up in their faith and become Methodist Christians, they must see to it that efficient home training and influences are brought to bear upon the young and susceptible hearts of their children. They must be taught at home, to love the Church and cherish its institutions.

The day of miracles is past, and the Sabbath Schools cannot be expected to do every thing unaided and alone. Christian people must give their prayers, their labors, and their money, for their support — Divinely sanctioned, and the recognized and legitimate nurseries of the Church, whence we must confidently look for the supply and increase of the harvest of converted and pious souls.

The Board, in their last annual Report, gave the gratifying intelligence that two hundred and thirty-one conversions had taken place among the children in the various Sabbath Schools connected with this Conference. It is a source of deep regret that we are not now able to give definite information upon this, of all others, most important point, but, from the unavoidable fact that the reports from the several stations, circuits and missions, during the past year, cannot be obtained in time for immediate use, we must be content to await their publication among the minutes of the present Conference.

Our last report relating to statistical information was necessarily hurried and imperfect.

The very admirable minutes of the last annual Conference exhibit in the tabular statement the gratifying facts that there were at that time connected with the Conference, four hundred and forty, in place of three hundred and eighty-one Sabbath Schools; two thousand seven hundred and sixty-nine, in place of two thousand five hundred and eleven officers and teachers; fifteen thousand nine hundred and ninety four, in place of eleven thousand three hundred and fifty-four white scholars; and eight thousand nine hundred and ninety-four, in place of five thousand four hundred and eighty-one colored scholars, making an aggregate of twenty-four thousand nine hundred and eighty-eight, in place of sixteen thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, as previously announced.

The volumes in library should have been stated at forty thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, in place of thirty-seven thousand four hundred and ninety.

We have no means of ascertaining with certainty the amount raised for Sunday Schools and Missions during the past year, and must be content for the present with the hope that a corresponding improvement in the financial interests of our cause has taken place.

At our anniversary meeting, one year ago, in Greenville, $277 was raised by collection and donations, which was disposed of to the best possible advantage: one-fifth to Dr. Taylor, as agent of the Parent Society; and the balance to the eight Presiding Elders, for distribution in their respective districts.

From some of these we have the most gratifying results. In one instance, a brother states that the contribution of only ten dollars, judiciously applied, established in the mountain region of our State, a Sabbath School, followed by a Church, which is likely to accomplish much good in winning precious souls to Christ. This should encourage and strengthen our faith. Let us

"Beside all waters sow,

The highway furrows stock—

Drop it where thousand thistles grow,

Scatter it on the rock."

Let us hope that, upon the whole, our cause is gloriously progressing, for, as Methodists, we must advance; our policy is necessarily aggressive, and to remain stationary means retreat, and retrogression means defeat. Have we not the right to expect that our present anniversary collection will be largely above the last, that we may be enabled, under the Divine blessing, to do abundantly more in this interesting field of the Master's vineyard for the ensuing year.

"To foster and mature the grain
For garners in the sky—
That when the final end,
The day of God is come,
The Angel reapers shall descend
And heaven sing harvest home."

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION.

The agency of the Church in the establishment of institutions for the public education of the young, has been recognized as of vital importance to her interests in every age of Christianity. We may, doubtless, attribute to the Apostles themselves and their injunctions to their disciples the erection of Academies, in which instruction was faithfully given in the different branches both of human learning and sacred erudition. St. John established such a school at Ephesus, and one of the same nature was founded by Polycarp, at Smyrna. St. Mark taught at Alexandria, followed by Pantænus, Clemens Alexandrinus, Origen, and a succession of learned Doctors, who rendered that institution famous for Christian philosophy and religious knowledge. Rome, Antioch, Cæsarea, Edessa and other places, also had their schools under Church supervision.

From the time of Constantine the Great (A. D. 306), the Christians applied themselves with more zeal and diligence to the study of philosophy and of the liberal arts, than they had formerly done, justly apprehending that the truth might suffer if the Christian youth, for want of proper masters and instructors of their own religion, should have recourse for their cducation to the schools of the Pagan philosophers and rhetoricians, and very properly supposing that to encourage a taste for the sciences, and to excite and maintain a spirit of literary emulation among the professors of Christianity by the establishment of schools, the crection of libraries, and by nobly recompensing men of learning and genius by the honors and advantages attached to the culture of the sciences and arts, were indispensably necessary to the successful abrogation of the ancient religion, maintained and supported as it was by the erudition and talents of the distinguished sages of paganism. Under the auspices of Charlemagne (A. D. 800), the greatest part of the Bishops crected Cathedral Schools (so called from their lying contiguous to the principal Church in each diocese), in which the youth received a learned and religious education. The zealous abbots also opened academies in their monasteries, in which the more learned of the fraternity gave instruction in the Latin language and other branches of learning suitable to the future destination of the young.

It was not, therefore, without good reason that one of the old divines (Thomas Bacon, A. D., 1564) said: "The fathers of Christ's Church, in times past, had a singular care and special study for the Christian younglings, that they might be brought up godly, virtuously, and in the knowledge of the laws of the Most High. Unto this end they gave money and lands to find both the school masters and the scholars, and erected and set up schools, that the lambs of Christ's flock might be fed in pleasant pastures of the Holy Scriptures. By this means it came to pass that the children trained up in the law of God from their youth, became godly and virtuous, so that, as they grew up in age, so, likewise, they increased in godliness, knowledge, virtue and goodness; which thing would to God it were renewed in our schools, that our Christian youth might learn to know Christ from their tender age. So should vice decrease, virtue increase, and papistry soon come to an end, and true godliness take root, spring, grow up, bud, flourish, bring forth fruit, reign, rule, triumph, and early have the victory over all other doctrines. In accordance with this view, at the Reformation Christian Schools, Colleges and Universities, sprung up in Germany, Switzerland, France, Holland, England and Scotland, and from that time to the present, the different branches of the Church of Christ have made the continent of Christendom in favor of religious institutions of learning, universal, by formally enjoining, in their highest ecclesiastical assemblies, the inculcation of religion in schools and colleges, as an important part of Church policy. Indeed, the relation between religious education and the prosperity of the Church, is so intimate, that it is scarcely conceivable that the cause of religion should permanently flourish in the midst of an educational system that did not give prominence to the truth of God, upon which the wellbeing of society rests. Such has been the necessary influence of a mere intellectual development of the powers of man, that the sentiment is gaining general prevalence that education, if not religious, is a curse to any society. "Religious and moral education," says Cousin, "is the first want of a people. Without this, every other education is not only without real utility, but in some respects dangerous. If, on the contrary, religious education has taken firm root, intellectual education will have complete success, and ought on no account to be withheld from the people, since God has endowed them with all the faculties of acquiring it, and since the cultivation of all the powers of man secures to him the means of reaching perfection, and through that supreme happiness."

Guizot has also said, "There is one thing that demands our zeal above all others. I mean moral and religious instruction." You know that virtue is not "always the concomitant of knowledge, and that the lessons which children receive may become pernicious, if addressed only to the understanding."

Napoleon is reported on one occasion to have declared: "No society can exist without morals, and there can be no sound morals without religion. Hence there is no firm or durable bulwark for a State but what religion constructs; let, therefore, every school throughout the land assume the precepts of religion as the basis of instruction. Experience has torn the veil from our eyes."

Dr. Reese says: "Without the inculcation of that system of morality which the Bible reveals, the mere instruction in letters will prove a curse rather than a blessing;" and Dr. Canning well exclaims: "The exaltation of talent, as it is called, above virtue and religion is the curse of the age. Talent is worshiped, but if divorced from rectitude it will prove more a demon than a God." For, in the language of another gifted writer, "Better that men should remain in ignorance than that they should eat of the tree of knowledge only to be made more subtle and powerful adversaries of God and humanity."

Public education is in its nature adapted to the inculcation of religion, thus proved to be essential to constitute it a blessing, and not a curse. Its precepts are analogous to those of private education, being merely extended on a higher scale, and removed to a different sphere. The same principles and aims govern, whether instruction be given at home, in the academy or in the college. These public institutions have opportunities to exercise a religious influence of a very decided character. The two great conditions required are, first, religious teachers, and, secondly, religious teaching. There can be no such thing as adequate religious instruction without religious teachers; and religious teachers, without the privilege of giving definite religious instruction, labor under serious disad-They may, by their spirit, their example, and their incidental allusions, be highly influential in recommending religion to their pupils; but to maintain that definite religious instruction is of no use in public institutions, is to exalt Christian example at the expense of Christian truth, or rather to dishonor the latter in comparison with the former. Both must be combined, and the truth of God must be taught in connection with secular learning by God-fearing men. Under such conditions, literary institutions are hopeful places for the nurture of our youth in knowledge, both secular and divinc.

The South Carolina Conference is anxiously laboring for that perfection of her educational system by which the wants of the people who wait on her ministry shall be fully and com-That system consists, at present, of Wofford College, designed to impart such higher instruction as is given in the first class male colleges of our country; the Cokesbury Institute, which, in addition to its relation as the principal preparatory school to Wofford, is also adapted to give instruction to such classes of students as from inability or want of disposition are not inclined to take a regular college course, and such other schools as either in the persons of their principals or patrons are disposed to favor the cause of Christian education; and for the education of the daughters of the Church, the Columbia Female College, the Spartanburg Female College, the Carolina Female College, and the Davenport Female College, which are adapted to give the highest instruction common to such institutions, and are also provided, each, with efficient preparatory departments.

We append the following brief accounts of the progress of these several institutions during the year now closing, and also of their present condition.

1. Wofford College commenced its seventh scholastic year on the first day of October last, with a larger number of students than were in attendance at the close of the last term. progress in studies as exhibited in the daily recitations in the several departments of instruction, and in the annual and semiannual examination of the classes, has been, with few exceptions, satisfactory to the Faculty. The instruction has been characterized by good order and regularity in attendance upon all college duties, whilst the spirit of subordination among the young men, disposing them to yield a ready and cheerful obe-dience to all needful regulations, is deserving of special com-The religious aspects of the college are most gratifying. About three-fourths of the students are members of the Church, and, by their regular attendance upon the ordinances of God, evidence their desire to grow in divine knowledge as well as human. The labors of the several officers of the institution have been unprecedented in colleges of equal grade, and the zeal and fidelity with which they have discharged their respective duties, deserve a grateful recognition. The college is in as healthy a condition as at any period of its history, and as wide a field of usefulness lies before it as can be claimed for any institution of the Southern Church. For the more efficient occupancy of this field, it is of the utmost importance for the Conference to carry to a successful consummation the liberal endowment voted at their last annual session. From the liberal spirit manifested in relation to the college by many noble hearted Christians, as reported by the agent, the hope is indulged that, by the active co-operation of the members of the Conference, this noble object will be speedily accomplished.

2. The Faculty is composed of the Rev. A. M. Shipp, D. D., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science; David Duncan, A. M., Professor of Ancient Languages and Literature; Rev. Whitefoord Smith, D. D., Professor of English Literature; James H. Carlisle, A. M., Professor of Mathematics; Warren Du Pre, A. M., Prof. of Natural Science.

COKESBURY SCHOOL.

This School during the past year has been highly prosperous, increasing the number of its patrons and friends. The number of students during the year, amounted to one hundred and ten, and it is believed that, by proper efforts, the number could be raised to two hundred. The institution boards and educates, free of charge, eight sons of members of Conference, and asks no tuition fees from the sons of itinerant preachers. The number of such beneficiaries during the past year has been twenty-seven.

The Rev. J. W. Wightman, who has been connected with the school for eight years, has resigned I is position as Classical Teacher, and requested an immediate release, with the view of entering the regular itinerant work. The Rector has been empowered to fill, temporarily, the vacancy, until the meeting of the Board of Trustees in July next, when his successor will be elected. Certain improvements are deemed necessary for the Buildings and Campus, and it is pleasing to record, that the people of Cokesbury are willing to do their full share in this noble and much needed work, and that they have already subscribed a very fair proportion of the amount necessary to make old Cokesbury once again thoroughly furnished and equipped for every good work.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.

The exercises of this institution have proceeded without interruption, in accordance with the published plan for the academic year. The closing exercises of the session, in April last, were witnessed by a large assemblage of patrons and friends, and afforded the highest degree of satisfaction. The number of students in attendance at present is eighty-eighta larger proportion than usual being boarders in the institution. The health of the students has generally been good, while good order and contentment have prevailed in a remarkable degree. A gracious revival of religion has recently been experienced in the Church at Lenoir, in which almost all of the students made a profession of religion, and all of them were brought under the blessed influence of God's Spirit. The Trustees earnestly request that their esteemed President, Rev. H. M. Mood, may be continued in his present position, believing that the interests of the College require his continued care and supervision, which have so largely contributed to its present prosperous and encouraging condition.

The Faculty is constituted as follows: Rev. H. M. Mood, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Science and English Literature; Rev. H. A. Bass, A. B., Mathematics and Ancient Languages; Mrs. Laura A. Mood, Superintendent of Domestic and Social Duties; Mrs. Harris, Instructress in Music; Miss Sarah T. Rankin, Ornamental Branches; Mrs. C. A. Wilbur, English Branches; A. A. Scroggs, M. D., Lecturer on Physiology and Hygiene.

VISITING COMMITTEE.—Rev. H. H. Durant, Commencement Sermon; Rev. F. M. Kennedy, Commencement Address; Rev. E. J. Meynardie, Address before the Cliosophic Society.

COLUMBIA FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Trustees of this Institution tender their congratulations to the Conference and the public, on the success which, under the blessing of heaven, has so abundantly crowned their efforts, and more than realized their most sanguine expectations. Rev. Wm. Martin was called to the Presidency in the month of February, who, though foreseeing and fully understanding all the difficulties he would have to face, waived all his feelings of personal comfort, and promptly entered upon the duties of his His administration has been marked with success, and seconded as he has been by a most able and excellent corps of teachers, and especially by that mother of teachers, Mrs. Martin, whose energies seemed rejuvenated by the emergency which thus demanded their exercise—the career of the College could not have been otherwise than prosperous, and the Trustees express the conviction, that they would be untrue to their own feelings, were they to fail to give utterance to a most hearty "well done" both to him and them. The number of students is one hundred and sixty, among whom there has been neither serious sickness nor death. The financial condition of the institution is not embarrassing. Its present indebtedness is $16,734 67; to meet which, the agent reports, after a careful analysis, available subscriptions to the amount of $12,-605, leaving a deficit of $4,129 67, for which some provision must be made as soon as the financial difficulties of the country will allow the use of the proper means. The Faculty is composed of the following members, viz:

Rev. W. Martin, President; Rev. T. E. Wannamaker, Professor in Literary Department; Mrs. M. Martin, Instructress; Mrs. F. Gamewell; Miss M. C. Pelot; Miss L. H. Jones; Mons. D'Ovilliers, Professor of French, Drawing, and Painting; W. H. Orchard, Professor in Music; S. Schiller, Professor in Music; Miss H. Craig, Instructress in Music; Miss Jones; Miss Orchard; Mrs. M. E. Brady, Instructress in Fancy Work; Mrs. D'Ovilliers, Instructress in Italian, German, and Vocal Music;

J. B. Black, Steward; Mrs. E. A. Black, Matron.

SPARTANBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.

The scholastic year in this institution opened more prosperously than at any former period of its history. Already one hundred and twenty-seven pupils have been enrolled, and the Faculty are authorized to expect the number to be increased to one hundred and fifty, in February next. By the prompt action of the Trustees, and the liberality of the friends of the college, between seven and eight thousand dollars have been subscribed for the erection of new buildings, to repair the loss sustained by fire in April last. A two-story building, 70x33 feet, with kitchen attached, has been completed, and is now in use; a contract in part has been made for a spacious and imposing edifice, which is to be the centre of the group, 70x60 feet, three stories high, with all the modern improvements of utility and taste. The Trustees, however, in view of an existing debt, have determined not to prosecute the work until the amount necessary is secured; and an earnest appeal is, therefore, made to the liberality of the public in behalf of this most desirable The Faculty has been increased and strengthened, a valuable Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus provided, and, through the fostering care of the Conference, and the generous co-operation of friends, at home and abroad, the Trustees are determined to make this institution second to none in the land, and one of which the Church and the friends of literatare may justly be proud. The Faculty consists of Wm. R. Blake, A. M., President; Charles Petty, A. B., Resident Professor; E. Falk, Esq., Professor of Music; Mrs. E. Falk and Miss Laura L. Logan, Assistant Music Teachers; Miss Martha McGlathery, French, Drawing and Painting; Miss Mary C. Baker, Ornamental Department; Mrs. C. Y. Baker, Assistant in Literary Department.

CAROLINA FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Agent, Rev. W. C. Power, has secured subscriptions to the amount of about $8,000, to meet the indebtedness of the College.

Whereas, the sudden and unexpected suspension of the exercises of the Carolina Female College, and the extreme pressure iu money matters, has rendered it, in the judgment of this Conference, inexpedient to revive the exercises of the College the present year, nevertheless,

1. Resolved, That we accept the offer of the Trustees of Carolina Female College, viz: the transfer of the College to this Conference for the sum of indebtedness, about sixteen thousand dollars, to be collected by an agent appointed by this Con-The College, after transfer, shall sustain the same relation to the Conferance which now prevails with our other Conference institutions of learning.

2. Resolved, That we heartily commend the Agent, Rev. W. C. Power (whom we hereby request the presiding Bishop to so appoint), to the liberality of our Church and friends.

In conclusion, the Committee beg to offer for adoption by the Conference, the following resolutions, viz:

Resolved, 1. That the South Carolina Conference regards with feelings of peculiar pleasure, the advanced position which, in the providence of God, she is called to occupy on the vitally important subject of education.

Resolved, 2. That as a body we will use our best endeavors and most active exertions to promote the interests which have been set on foot, recommending them in all our pastoral intercourse, obtaining for them as many students as possible, and co operating in raising such endowment funds as have been voted by the Conference.

Resolved, 3. That the Board of Trustees for Columbia Female College and Spartanburg Female College be re-elected, and that a Committee of Three be appointed to report Trustees for the several Literary Institutions under the auspices of the South Carolina Conference, in accordance with the resolution passed by the Conference, forbidding members of Conference serving on more than one Board at the same time.

W. A. Gamewell, C. Betts and H. A. C. Walker are suggested for the Committee of Three.

LEGAL CONFERENCE.

The Incorporated Conference held its annual session on Monday afternoon, Dr. W. Smith in the chair. The Board of Managers offered their Annual Report, which was adopted. The Treasurer's Report was also received. The various funds of the Conference have yielded their customary income, and distributions were made from the Superannuated Ministers' Fund—the Fund of special relief—and the Educational Fund, of such small amounts as the condition of the trusts allowed. On motion, the Treasurer was requested to negotiate with the President of the Columbia and Greenville Railroad for a Clergy Ticket.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Dr. W. Smith, President; H. A. C. Walker, 1st Vice President; A. M. Shipp, 2d Vice President; W. Martin, 3d Vice President; H. A. C. Parsons, 4th Vice President; W. A. Gamewell, Secre-

Managers.—A. Wallace, R. Bryce, S. Bobo, G. W. Williams,

All the young preachers of the Conference eligible were elected to membership in the incorporate body. On motion, the Legal Conference adjourned.

JOINT BOARD OF FINANCE.

FINANCIAL PLAN.

1. It shall be the duty of the Board, after ascertaining the whole amount of claim against them, annually to apportion the same to the several circuits and stations in the Conference District, and each preacher having charge of a circuit or station, shall furnish his successor with the amount apportioned to his charge.

2. Each preacher shall make all necessary effort to collect the money apportioned to his charge by the Board.

3. The preacher in charge of each circuit, shall (at the close of the Conference year) fix the first appointment for his successor, at the church nearest the parsonage, or place of boarding; and shall allow him, thereafter, at least one week, to arrange for the year; during which time (the day to be fixed the preceding year by the preacher and stewards) the stewards shall hold the first meeting at the parsonage or place of boarding, at which it shall be the duty of each steward to attend.

4. Each Board of Stewards, respectively, shall ascertain the whole claim against the circuit for the current year, both for quarterage and travelling expenses, as definitely as possible; and they shall then make an estimate of the family expenses of the preacher or preachers, of the circuit, including servants' hire and house rent (if a house is to be rented), and the entire claim against the circuit for the current year, shall be apportioned to the several congregations composing the circuit, forthwith; each congregation to be notified immediately of the amount it is expected to collect.

11. Each member of the Joint Board, and more especially the Chairman thereof, shall feel it his duty to be active in endeavoring to improve the financial condition of the Church, by correspondence with the stewards of the several charges, by public addresses to the Church, at suitable times, or in any other way he may deem best.

12. The Circuit Stewards shall make arrangements early in the year, if they deem it necessary, to receive from the congregations assigned to them, such provisions as they may be able to give, for the support of the preacher's family, which shall be delivered at the parsonage, at market prices, and shall be placed to the credit of the church sending it, as family expenses.

13. The Board of Stewards, on their respective charges, are requested to co-operate with the ministers laboring among them, in securing the amount the charge has been requested to collect as Conference collection, by private applications to our wealthier members, and, if necessary, by public collections in their respective congregations.

14. The respective Boards of Stewards shall have authority to retain any surplus Conference collections, to meet the deficiencies, if any, in the current expenses in the charge where it is collected.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

Annual Meeting, held in Columbia, December 18th, 1860.

At the close of the Afternoon Session of the Conference, the President and first Vice-President being absent, the Rev. A. M. Shipp, D. D., the second Vice-President, called the meeting to order, A. G. Stacy, acting as Secretary pro tempore.

The Treasurer, the Rev. F. Milton Kennedy, reported $264 75 as the amount of cash on hand. The report was adopted.

The following valuable contributions were made to the Society, to be placed by the Curator in the room provided as a Repository for the property of the Association, in Wofford College, viz:

1. The Pocket Compass used by the Rev. Daniel Asbury; presented through the Rev. W. A. Gamewell.

2. Bound volumes of the Christian Advocate and Journal; presented by Dr. D. R. Dunlap, through the Rev. J. W. Miller.

3. The MS. Address of Bishop Asbury to the General Conference of 1816, written by the Bishop while on his way to attend the meeting of that body, but which never reached the seat of the Conference. This valuable document came from the hands of the Rev. J. B. Anthony, by the Rev. J. W. Kelly.

The Secretary was, on motion, instructed to return the hearty thanks of the Society to the generous donors of these interesting memorials of the past. On motion of the Rev J. T. Wightman, Dr. A. M. Shipp was requested to examine the MS. Address of Bishop Asbury, and to furnish it for publication in the Southern Christian Advocate, provided he shall think proper to do so.

On motion, it was

Resolved, That each Preacher in the Conference is requested to have his likeness taken, at his own expense, as a contribution to the Society—the likeness so furnished to be labeled by the Curator, and placed in the Society's Repository.

The Rev. J. T. Wightman stated as information that he had lately procured a tolerably full sketch of the life of the venerable George Dougherty, from an old lady who still survives. which, with the aid of other individuals, will enable him (Wightman) to furnish a satisfactory account of the life and labors of that great and good man.

On motion of J. W. Kelly, the thanks of the Society were returned to Brothers Talley, Derrick, Crook, and others, for interesting reminiscences, and they and all the elder preachers were requested to favor the Society and the public with the valuable knowledge of former days, which is in their possession.

On motion, the Curators were requested to have the room which has been appropriated to the Society put in order, all the articles deposited there to be neatly arranged and carefully preserved.

Dr. Shipp called the especial attention of the Society to the following item in the published proceedings of the last annual meeting, viz.: "The Presiding Elders were appointed a Committee to assist Dr. Shipp in collecting all proper information, to be forwarded to him sometime previous to the first of July, 1860." Dr. Shipp stated that no such aid had yet been received, and that he earnestly desired to enlist the Presiding Elders in this good work. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

W. A. Gamewell, President; N. Talley, First Vice-President; A. M. Shipp, Second Vice-President; R. J. Boyd, Third Vice-President; A. G. Stacy, Recording Secretary; F. A. Mood,
